The Surry County Schools Board of Education took time out of their regularly scheduled Board of Education meeting to recognize and show appreciation for the custodians who serve the 18 Surry County School system campuses. The Board hosted a Custodian Appreciation Reception at Meadowview Magnet Middle School Cafeteria on Monday, October 1, 2018, to express the depth of gratitude felt for the hard work and effort custodians put forth on a daily basis.

“October 2, 2018, is National Custodian Day and the Board and I wanted to celebrate with you a day early and let you know how much you are appreciated for all you do,” shared Dr. Travis L. Reeves, Superintendent of Surry County Schools, to an audience of custodians, principals, and central office staff.

Principals introduced custodians, using words like awesome, amazing, and the best to describe them. Additionally, each Board of Education member thanked custodians for the job they do from maintaining clean and healthy learning environments to sustaining safe learning environments for students and staff, many times making it personal to children and grandchildren who attend Surry County Schools.

Superintendent Reeves noted, “The Board of Education and I acknowledge the hard job you have and the pride in which you demonstrate commitment ensuring each and every student and staff member has a safe and healthy learning and work environment. Moreover, you establish relationships with students and make schools, offices, and departments better places to work and learn.” Board members ended the reception by giving each custodian a gift of appreciation.
